"And Here's to the Housewife That's Thrifty"

If our housefurnishing store on Basement Floor does the largest housefurnishing business in this whole section—as manufacturers tell us—it would be odd if its half-yearly sales were not events of prime importance to the people who use its wares.

Our prices are quite reasonable, but we take more pride in the serviceability of the wares in the Social and Personal

Impressive Wedding.

Most impressive was the marriage of Miss Mary Mulvaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mulvaney, to Mr. Charles Callaghan, which was celebrated at 8:30 o'clock last evening in the church of the Immaculate Conception. The bridal party entered the church to the sweet strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, which was beautifully rendered by Mrs. James J. Devine. The bride and bridegroom were attended by Miss Lucille Mulvaney and Mr. M. L. McGraw.

The solemn ceremony of the church was read by the Rev. E. H. McDermott in the presence of relatives and a large circle of friends. At the close of the service Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the bridal party left the church.

Later a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents on Elm street. Covers were laid for only the bridal party and the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Callaghan left on train No. 4 for an extended honeymoon trip in the East and about the middle of May will be at home in Clarksburg to their many friends.

Club Meets.

About thirty-five members of the Mothers Club attended a very interesting and enjoyable meeting held in the home of Mrs. W. H. Garrett yesterday afternoon. Mrs. S. A. Smith presiding. The program was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Cheuvront and the topic discussed, "How May We Secure Playgrounds," by George W. Dudder, secretary of the board of trade.

CHARLESTON, April 29.—Governor Hatfield has announced the appointment of representatives from West Virginia to attend the ninth annual conference of weight and measures to be held at Washington in the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce and Labor, May 26 to 29 inclusive.

It is said to be the intention of Governor Hatfield to include the subject of better regulation and supervision of weights and measures in a call for an extra session of the legislature in event it is decided to convene the legislature before the next regular session. He hopes to see enacted into law an adequate weights and measures bill that will prevent abuses along that line, and feels that corrective legislation on this subject is of interest to every citizen and every household in the state.

The object of these conferences is to bring together the weights and measures officials throughout the country, and especially those at the head of state departments of which the conference is primarily composed for the purpose of discussing administrative, technical and other important questions which arise in the administration of laws with a view to advancing the cause of honest weights and measures. MOUNT CLARE

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)

MT. CLARE, April 29.—Professor J. W. Samples opened a special subscription school in the graded school building here Monday morning, where he will better prepare a number of young pupils for the winter term when it begins next fall.

A petition was circulated throughout this school district some time ago praying the board of education to provide an eight months' term of school under the provision of a recent act of the legislature extending the powers of such boards in certain cases.

Quite a number of pupils of the eighth grade graduated at the close of the recent term, and some of them will seek admission into one of the high schools of the county this fall. The Rev. E. G. Vincent, Thomas Williams and W. M. Morris attended the quarterly meeting services at McWhorter Sunday evening. Owing to sickness in the family of the district superintendent, Dr. Resseger, the Rev. P. L. Bent, of West Milford, presided
